Ce volume se propose comme point de référence pour tous ceux qui veulent apprendre la technique du catalogage dans une bibliothèque. Le volume se divise en trois parties. Dans la première partie, il aide à définir la notion et la fonction du catalogue en abordant toutes les questions relatives à sa nature et à ses buts, mais aussi les techniques de catalogage et la gestion du même catalogue, en faisant référence aux théories catalographiques de plusieurs bibliothécaires de notre époque. La deuxième partie analyse l'organisation des informations en bibliothèque en incluant tous les éléments relatifs à la description bibliographique, la vedette par auteur, par titre et par sujet et la classification. On va analyser notamment la classification Dewey et ses principes. Dans la partie finale, on va décrire les deux standards principaux de catalogage, à savoir FRBR et ISBD.
