Useful formulae for the surveyor (An Exposition-banner book) R. L Hudson

A field manual for control and land surveying with equations, examples, tables and index by R. L. Hudson, Land Surveyor. This title combines in one book all the formulae, tables, and other information needed in the field. It is intended for practicing surveyors, chiefs-of-party, and other members of the surveying profession who already have a basic knowledge of surveying terminology and techniques. While it was conceived for control and land surveys, it can also be used for construction surveys. Nearly every formula is accompanied by a figure and an example of the required operations. Most are derived from actual field measurements. Surveyors will particularly find useful the table of conversion factors and the table of six-figure natural trigonometric functions. The book also includes a number of standard surveyor's forms and a useful list of abbreviations and symbols.
